Generation Two

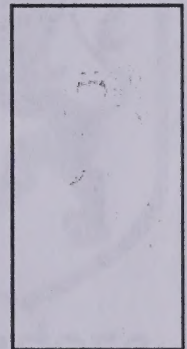

Charles II "the Bald", King of the West Franks

Born on June 13, 823

Died on October 6, 877

Charles married in 842 to Ermentrude, a daughter of Odo, Count of Orléans and they had the following children:

- Louis II "the Stammerer", King of France, born in 846; his son:
 - Charles III "the Simple", King of France, who negotiated the treaty of Saint-Clair-sur-Epte, giving the part of Neustria that came to be called Normandy.
- Princess Judith
- Hersent who married

Charles married secondly in 870 to Richout, a daughter of Budwine, Count of Metz and they had the following children:

- Rothaut, born circa 870 who married Hugh, Count of Bourges

Generation Three

Princess Judith

Born circa 844

Princess Judith married on October 856 at Verberie sur Oise, France to Æthelwulf, King of England who abdicated on October 1, 856 and died in 858. Judith was only about 12 years old at the time, and the marriage was really nothing more than a demonstration of alliance between her father Charles "the Bald" and Æthelwulf. Judith then married to Æthelwulf's son and hier, Æthelbald, King of England in 860. This marriage was considered to be "against God's prohibition and Christian dignity" and they had an annulment the same year.

Please click on for further details.

Princess Judith married third in 862 to Baldwin I "Bras der Fer", Count of Flanders who died in 879.

Judith and Baldwin had a son:

- Baldwin II "the Bald" of Flanders

Generation Four

Baldwin II "the Bald", Count of Flanders

Born circa 865

Died on September 10, 918

The coat of arms of the Counts of Flanders is described as "or, a lion rampant sable" which means "a gold shield with a black lion raising his fore paws in the air as if attacking ."

Baldwin's early years were marked by a series of Viking raids. However, he built new fortifications and took over abandoned land, thereby increasing his holdings. Baldwin "the Bald" married after 893 to Ælfthryth (died June 7, 929), a daughter of Ælfred the Great, King of England. Please click on for Ælfthryth's descent.

Baldwin and Ælfthryth had a son:

- Arnolph I "the Old", Count of Flanders

Generation Five

Arnolph I "the Old", Count of Flanders

Died: 965

Arnolph (also Arnulf and Arnold) waged a war in the late 930's against William Longsword, 2nd Duke of Normandy. A peace conference was held in December 942, and Arnolph arranged for the murder of William Longsword at that time. Please click on the for more about William Longsword.

Arnolph "the Old" was associated with Alice of Vermandois, daughter of Herbert II de Vermandois. Please click on for this line.

Arnolph and Alice had a son:

- Baldwin III, Count of Flanders

Generation Six

Baldwin III, Count of Flanders & Artois

Born about 940

Died on November 1, 962

Baldwin reigned along with his father as Count of Flanders. However, Baldwin died before his father Arnulf "the Old" who was succeeded by Baldwin's son Arnulf "the Young."

Baldwin married in 961 to Matilda, a daughter of Hermann Billung, Duke of Saxony and his wife Hildegard of Westerbourg. Baldwin and Matilda had a son:

- Arnolph II "the Young", Count of Flanders

Generation Seven

Arnolph II "the Young", Count of Flanders

Born about 961

Died in 988

Arnolph married in 968 to Rosela (or Susanna), a daughter of Berengarius II, King of Italy and his wife Willa. Rosela was a great great granddaughter of _____, a daughter of Louis I "the Pious", Emperor of the West and his second wife Judith of Bavaria. Arnolph and Rosela had a son:

- Baldwin IV "the Bearded", Earl or Count of Flanders

Generation Eight

Baldwin IV "the Bearded", Earl or Count of Flanders

Born about 980

Died on May 30, 1035

Baldwin married first in 1012 to Ogive (also Ogtiva), a daughter of Frederick I, Count of Luxembourg and they had a son:

- Baldwin V, Count of Flanders

Baldwin married second after 1030 to Eleanor of Normandy, a daughter of Richard II "the Good", 4th Duke of Normandy. Please click on the _____ for Eleanor's descent.

Baldwin and Eleanora had a daughter:

- Judith who married in 1051 to Tostig Godwineson, a son of Earl Godwine of Wessex and brother of Harold Godwineson. Tostig allied himself with King Harold Hardraada of Norway against Harold and was slain at Stamford Bridge on September 25, 1066. For further details and links, click on

Generation Nine

Baldwin V, Count of Flanders

Born about 1012

Died on September 1, 1067 at Lille, France

Baldwin married in 1028 to Princess Adela (or Alix) Capet of France, daughter of Robert II "the Pious" Capet, King of France. Please click on for her descent from the Robertian and Capetian Kings of France

Baldwin and Adela had the following children:

(as shown in Moriarty: The Plantagenet Ancestry, page 15 and Weis, Ancestral Roots, Lines 162, 163 and 164)

(Click for excerpts from these publications)

- Baldwin VI, Count of Flanders and Hainault, born about 1030, died on July 10, 1070. He married about 1055 to Richilda, widow of Hermann, Count of Hainault.
- Mathilda of Flanders
- Robert the Friesian, Count of Flanders and Holland, born about 1035, died on October 3, 1093. He married about 1063 to Gertrude, a daughter of Bernard II, Duke of Saxony and widow of Florent I, Count of Holland. After the death of his brother Baldwin VI, he displaced his nephews (sons of Baldwin VI) and became Count of Flanders.

Generation Ten

Mathilda of Flanders

Born in 1032 at Flanders, France

Died on November 2, 1083 at Caen, Normandy

Interred at Holy Trinity Abbey, Caen, Normandy

Mathilda married in 1053, at the Cathedral of Notre Dame d'Eu, Normandy to William "the Conqueror", 7th Duke of Normandy and later King of England.

Mathilda and William had the following children:

- Robert II Curthose, Duke of Normandy, (1054 - 1134)
- Richard, Duke of Bernay, (1055 - 1075, died without issue)
- Cecilia of Holy Trinity, Abbess of Caen, (1056 - 1127)
- Adeliza, who became a nun, born in 1055

- William II Rufus, King of England from 1087 to 1100 born 1056/60
- Constance, (1066 - 1090) married Alan IV, Count of Brittany
- Adela, (1067 - 1137) married Stephen, Count of Blois, their son:
 - Stephen, King of England 1135 - 1154
- Agatha, born about 1064
- Matilda
- Henry I Beauclerc, King of England, born in September 1068

The oldest extant Earldom (and perhaps the oldest extant title) in the English peerage is the Earldom of Arundel currently held by the Duke of Norfolk, and used as a courtesy title by his heir.

The title of Earl of Arundel was first created in 1138 for the Norman baron William d'Aubigny. The earlier earls were frequently also known as Earl of Sussex, until the mid 13th century, when this title fell into disuse. At about the same time, the Earldom fell to the originally Breton Fitzalan family, a younger branch of which went on to become the Stewart family which later ruled Scotland.

A tradition arose that the holder of Arundel Castle should automatically be Earl of Arundel, and this was formally confirmed by king Henry VI. However this had not always been consistently adhered to. Some of the Lords of Arundel were never addressed as Earl during their lifetime, but nevertheless, are counted and numbered as earls here. Other sources may not include some of the earls listed below, and may consider the earldom to have been created more than once.

On the death of the 19th Earl in 1580, the title fell to Philip Howard, eldest son of the attainted Thomas Howard, 4th Duke of Norfolk by his wife, the only daughter of the last Fitzalan Earl. Like his father, the new Earl was soon attainted for plotting against Queen Elizabeth, and the title was only restored following the accession of James I. The 23rd Earl was restored to the Dukedom of Norfolk in 1660, and the title has descended with that Dukedom ever since.

No one will tell me the cause of my sorrow

Why they have made me a prisoner here.

Wherefore with dolour I now make my moan;

Friends had I many but help have I none.

Shameful it is that they leave me to ransom,

To languish here two winters long.

Key Sources

The source of this genealogy is the Registered Pedigree of William Cooke, compiled and certified on 16 October 1849 by Sir William Betham, Ulster King of Arms. It is countersigned by Sir J. Bernard Burke who succeeded Sir William as Ulster King of Arms in 1853. The Pedigree is in G.O. 178, pp. 234–237 (with an earlier work in G.O. 205, pp. 350–355) in the Genealogical Office, 2 Kildare Street, Dublin 2, Ireland. The focus of the Pedigree compiled by Sir William is on Sir Richard Cooke (d. 1616), son of William Cooke, and on Sir Richard's wife, Anne Peyton. Anne Peyton's ancestry is traced back to King Edward I of England, and her progeny are traced forward through three of her children: Sir Walsingham Cooke, William Cooke, Esq., and Dudley Colley, Esq. One can assume that the original interest was in tracing the genealogy of the great Duke of Wellington and his brother the Marquess Wellesley, Lord Lieutenant of Ireland, both descended from Anne Peyton.

The seminal source in the field is the monumental life work of Gerald Paget, The Lineage and Ancestry of H.R.H. Prince Charles, Prince of Wales, 2 vols. (1977). In it Paget traces the ancestry of Prince Charles back through Anne Peyton (#18 in this genealogy, #K1856 in his) and others to generation #10 in this genealogy. He confirms Betham in every important respect and supplies a wealth of dates. Biographies of the first 12 generations are set out in the 22 volumes of the Dictionary of National Biography (1900, reprinted in 1922), as well as in Betham's Registered Pedigree of William Cooke.*

* The immediate provenance of this Registered Pedigree can be surmised: John Henry O'Byrne Redmond (great-grandson of John Cooke, Esq., the brother of Frances Cooke Proctor, generation #22 in this genealogy) married Emelia Georgiana Manley, daughter of General Count Manley, on 22 September 1849, shortly before Sir William Betham certified this pedigree on 16 October 1849, their marriage being the last entry. An earlier identical pedigree was compiled by Sir William Betham and is in G.O. 205, pp. 350-355, from volume 3 of Will Pedigrees. From this marriage, celebrated at Alton Towers seat of the Earl of Shrewsbury, Reginald Pius Rudolph Plantagenet Redmond was born in 1851; he succeeded his father in 1866 as Count of the Papal States and inherited Sleanagranne (Cookestowne) co. Mathilda of Flanders

This page was set up by Robert Sewell in July 2006 to show the descent of Mathilda of Flanders (wife of William the Conqueror) from Charlemagne and his ancestors. Robert Sewell graduated from McMaster University (Hamilton, Ontario, Canada) in 1967 with a B.Sc. degree in chemistry. After a year of studies at the University of Toronto's College of Education, he taught high school science in Collingwood, Ontario for a year and then taught chemistry, physics and general science in Hamilton, Ontario for twenty-nine years. Robert Sewell retired from teaching in June 1998.

Louis I "the Pious", Emperor of the West

Born in August 778

<http://www.robertsewell.ca/mathilda.html>

8/3/2010

Died on June 20, 840

Louis "the Pious" succeeded _____ as Emperor of the West. (See Charlemagne, Generation Thirteen) Under Frankish law, Charlemagne's empire was to be divided among his three sons. However, the death of Pépin, King of Italy in 810 and Charles the younger, Duke of Ingelheim, in died 811 left Louis, King of Aquitaine as Charlemagne's sole surviving son and successor.

Louis was a friend of St. Benedict, and he set out to establish his empire according to Christian principles. He ordered bishops to stop wearing military attire and expelled women of loose morals from the court. He tried to centralize the legal system, but his vision of one empire with one ruler, one people and one law failed to succeed. On his death, his empire was divided among his three surviving sons: Lothaire, Louis "the German" and Charles "the Bald."

Louis married in 798 to Irmengard of Hesbain, and they had the following children:

- Lothair I, Holy Roman Emperor, born in 795 and died on September 29, 855. Lothaire married Ermengarde, a daughter of Hugh II Count of Tours; and they had the following children:
 - Ermengarde (or Helletrude) who married
 - Louis II (circa 823 - 855) married Engleberge. Their daughter:
 - Emrengarde (circa 855 - 897) married Count Boso, King of Provence. Their son:
 - Louis "the Blind", King of Provence and Italy, married Anna of Byzantium, a daughter of Leo VI "the Wise", Emperor of Byzantium. Please click _____ for this line.
- Pepin I, King of Aquitaine, born in 797, died before his father in 838
- Louis II the German, King East Franks, born about 805 and died in 876

Louis married in 819 to Judith of Bavaria, a daughter of Count Welf of Alemannia and they had the following children:

- Charles II the Bald, King of the West Franks
- Gisèle, who married Eberhard, Marquis of Friuli. Their great great granddaughter Rosela married _____, shown below on this page.

His parents united them after Richard, and his youth was divided between the eldest brother whom he learned the art of knighthood, and the house of his father's castle, Poitou, where he learned the ways of government. As the fourth child, inherited less power left available to him, giving rise to his nickname, Lackland. His first marriage, to Isabella of Gloucester, lasted but ten years and was fruitless; his son of Angoulême, ill-suited with, took him two sons (Henry and Richard) and three daughters (Joan, Isabella and Eleanor). He also had an illegitimate daughter, also named Joan, who married Llywelyn the Great, ruler of All Wales, from which the Tudor line of monarchs traced descended. The Angevin family feud left quite a mark on John - he proved his betrayal to both wives and his brother Richard. He and Richard are claimed in 1184 when the elder refused to turn Aquitaine over to the younger brother, as dictated by Henry II. That following year Henry sent John to rule Ireland, but acknowledged the newer Irish and the transatlantic Anglo-Normans were obligated to carve out new lordships for themselves; the younger man was a total failure, and John returned home within months. Richard, after a cooling in the future in 1191, was the next soldier to suppress his younger brother, but to no avail. He tried to overthrow Richard's administration during the German campaign, but failed. He conspired with Philip III in another attempt, which again failed. Upon Richard's release in 1194, John was forced to sue for pardon, and spent the next five years in his brother's shadow, staying out of politics in penance to be named heir to the crown. John's reign was full of trouble. A council with the Church resulted in England being placed under an interdict in 1207 with John excommunicated two years later. The dispute, nevertheless, John's refusal to accept the papal candidate, Stephen Langton, as Archbishop of Canterbury, and was not resolved until the interdict was lifted in 1213, one of the most significant medieval events. A decisive dispute

His parents drifted apart after his birth, and his youth was divided between his eldest brother's house where he learned the art of knighthood, and the house of his father's justiciar, Ranulf Glanvil, where he learned the business of government. As the fourth child, inherited lands were not available to him, giving rise to his nickname, Lackland. His first marriage, to Isabel of Gloucester, lasted but ten years and was fruitless; Isabella of Angouleme, his second wife, bore him two sons (Henry and Richard) and three daughters (Joan, Isabella and Eleanor). He also had an illegitimate daughter, also named Joan, who married Llywelyn the Great, Ruler of All Wales, from which the Tudor line of monarchs was descended. The Angevin family feuds left quite a mark on John - he proved his betrayal to both father and his brother Richard. He and Richard clashed in 1184 when the elder refused to turn Aquitaine over to the younger brother, as dictated by Henry II. The following year Henry sent John to rule Ireland, but John alienated the native Irish and the transplanted Anglo-Normans who emigrated to carve out new lordships for themselves; the experiment was a total failure, and John returned home within six months. Richard, after ascending to the throne in 1189, gave John vast estates to appease his younger brother, but to no avail. He tried to overthrow Richard's administrators during the German captivity, but failed. He conspired with Philip II in another attempt, which again failed. Upon Richard's release in 1194, John was forced to sue for pardon, and spent the next five years in his brother's shadow, staying out of trouble long enough to be named heir to the crown. John's reign was full of trouble. A quarrel with the Church resulted in England being placed under an interdict in 1207, with John excommunicated two years later. The dispute, centered around John's refusal to install the papal candidate, Stephen Langdon, as Archbishop of Canterbury, and was not resolved until John surrendered to the wishes of Innocent III, one of the greatest medieval popes. A succession dispute with his nephew, Arthur of Brittany, ultimately resulted in the loss of French territories, as the king's French vassals preferred Arthur. By spring 1205, John had crossed the Channel back into England as the last of his French possessions fell out of his hands. From 1206 to the end of his reign, John was preoccupied with regaining these territories, levying a number of new taxes upon the landed barons to pay for his campaigns. This would have been satisfactory had John been winning battles, but he was continually trounced by the French. The discontented rebel barons revolted, capturing London in May 1215. In June, at Runnymede, John met with the barons and signed the Magna Carta, a feudal rights document stressing three points: 1) the Church was free to make its own appointments; 2) no more than the normal amounts of money could be collected to run the government, unless the king's feudal tenants gave their consent; and 3) no freeman was to be punished except in concert with the common law. This document proved to be the forerunner of modern constitutions. John signed the document as a means of buying time, and failed to keep his word. The nobility called for French assistance, and John died in the midst of an invasion. John was remembered in elegant fashion by Sir Richard Baker in A Chronicle of the Kings of England: "...his works of piety were very many...as far his actions, he neither came to the crown by justice, nor held it with any honour, nor left it peace." John's treacherous nature was the cause of the greatest loss of English continental territory until the Hundred Years' War (1337-1453). Ed. Thorpe to sell dishonestly claims to all the Angevin possessions in France which was held as a fief of the French crown) and Calais. Henry's failure incited hostilities among a group of barons led by his brother-in-law Simon de Montfort. Henry was forced to a wide-ranging plan of reforms, the provisions of Oxford. His later papal absolution from allying to the provisions prompted a baronial revolt in 1263, and Henry was summoned to the first parliament. A gathering of knights from every shire and county and foremen from the house of commons. Parliament insisted that a council be imposed on the king to advise on policy decisions. <http://www.kindredk.com/kkindv?272149+1034207407+100010+English+0-0+N2919+1088+165> 10/9/02

the old king, after an extremely long reign of fifty-four years, died in 1272. He found no success in war, but opened up English culture to the cosmopolitanism of the continent. although viewed as a failure as a politician, his reign defined the English monarchical position until the end of the fifteenth century. Kingship limited by law - the repercussions of which influenced the English civil war in the reign of Charles I, and extended into the nineteenth century queenship of Victoria.

Henry Plantagenet, 3rd Earl of Leicester (1281 - September 22, 1345) was an English nobleman, one of the principals behind the deposition of Edward II.

He was the younger son of Blanche of Artois and Edmund Crouchback, Earl of Leicester, who was a son of Henry III of England.

Henry's elder brother Thomas succeeded their father in 1296, but Henry was summoned to Parliament on February 6, 1298/99 by writ directed Henrico de Lancastre nepoti Regis, by which he is held to have become Lord Lancaster. He took part in the siege of Carlaverock in July 1300.

Thomas was convicted of treason, executed and his lands and titles forfeited in 1322. But Henry, who had not participated in his brother's rebellion, petitioned for his brother's lands and titles, and on March 29, 1324 he was invested as Earl of Leicester, and a few years later the earldom of of Lancaster was also restored to him.

On the Queen's return to England with Roger Mortimer in September 1326, Henry joined her party against Edward II, which led to a general desertion of the king's cause and overturned the power of the Despensers. He was sent in pursuit and captured the king at Neath. He was appointed to take charge of the King, and was responsible for his custody at Kenilworth Castle.

After Edward II's death Henry was appointed guardian of the new king Edward III, and was also appointed captain-general of all the King's forces in the Scottish marches.

In about the year 1330, he became blind.

He was succeeded as Earl of Lancaster and Leicester by his eldest son, Henry of Grosmont, who subsequently became Duke of Lancaster.

He married once, to Maud Chaworth, before 2 March 1296/1297. (Some references claim he married Alix de Joinville, but she in fact married Henry's brother John.) With Maud he had seven children:

- Henry of Grosmont, 1st Duke of Lancaster, (about 1300-1360/61)
- Blanche of Lancaster, (about 1305 - 1380)
- Maud of Lancaster, (about 1310-1377)
- Joan of Lancaster, (about 1312-1345)
- Isabel of Lancaster, Abbess of Ambresbury, (about 1317-after 1347)
- Eleanor of Lancaster, (about 1318-1371/72)
- Mary of Lancaster, (about 1320-1362), who married Henry, 3rd Baron Percy and was the mother of Henry Percy, 1st Earl of Northumberland.

He was born in Grosmont Castle, Monmouthshire and died in Leicester, England. He is interred at Newark Abbey, Leicester.

My Southern Families gives date of birthas June 17, 1239.
Edw. had drooping eye, fierce temper, was handsome, w/light silvery hair which grew darker as he grew older. He talked w/a slight lisp. Had spherical head, round eyes, curly hair, prominent nose, broad chest, long limbs, & firm body.
Made steward of England in 1268, as well as warden of city and Tower of London. Abolished levy of customs and urged laws againstJewish money-lenders. Left for the crusades in 1271...fought bravely at Acre 7 Haifa. While on way home, his father died, and he succeeded to crown on Nov. 20, 1272. Coronation Aug 19, 1274.
He was 15 when married and had 10 children by his first wife.
Defeated Scottish rebels under wm. Wallace at Linlithgow Heath 1298 and eventually executed Wallace in London.
Edward was buried in Westminster Abbey on Oct. 27, 1307. Other source lists death as 1309.

About FamilySearch Pedigree Resource File:

The Pedigree Resource File is a new large linked database of records available on compact disc including family history records as limited by individual through FamilySearch Internet Genealogy Service. Family information is organized in family groups and includes and records individuals' notes and sources. Many charts and reports can be printed from this data. Each disc contains about 1.1 million names. With the publication of every five discs, a master index for those discs will be published and packaged with that set of discs. With the publication of every 25 discs, a master index for those discs will also be published and packaged with that volume of discs. Data may be purchased as sets or volumes.

Please Note:

Subscribers' information is provided to help in the coordination of personal family history research. Use of this information for any other purpose, including marketing, advertising, or commercial solicitation, is strictly prohibited.

About FamilySearch Pedigree Resource File:

The Pedigree Resource File is a new lineage linked database of records available on compact disc containing family history records submitted by individuals through FamilySearch Internet Genealogy Service. Family information is organized in family groups and pedigrees and includes submitted notes and sources. Many charts and reports can be printed from this data. Each disc contains about 1.1 million names. With the publication of every five discs, a master index for those discs will be published and packaged with that set of discs. With the publication of every 25 discs, a master index for those discs will also be published and packaged with that volume of discs. Discs may be purchased as sets or volumes.

About FamilySearch Pedigree Resource File:

The Pedigree Resource File is a new three-dimensional system of records available on compact disc containing family history records submitted by individuals through FamilySearch Internet Connection Service. Family information is organized in family groups and surnames and includes surname notes and records. Many charts and reports can be printed from this data. Each disc contains about 1.5 million names. With the publication of every five discs, a master index for those discs will be published and packaged with that set of discs. With the publication of every 25 discs, a master index for those discs will also be published and packaged with that volume of discs. Discs may be purchased as sets or volumes.

Please Note:

Information is provided to help in the coordination of personal family history research. Use of this information for any other purpose, including marketing, advertising, or other commercial activities, is strictly prohibited.
